

Endorsement Letter

Dear media and California voters,

Dr. Sarah Sun Liew's efforts to become the Republican Party's nominee for the United States Senate seat in California are an honor and a joy to recognize. As a California Senator, I believe Sarah can be a welcoming leader. Sarah's entrepreneurial skills, extensive education, community efforts, and faith-based community leadership all contribute to her realization of the American Dream. Sarah is a conservative community leader who wants to guide California as a whole back to the shared values and character traits that will assure everyone's success in life. Sarah wants to ensure that every Californian has the opportunity to receive a high-quality public education.

Sarah is dedicated to ensuring that everyone in California has access to high-quality, low-cost health care. Sarah will make sure that every student in the state has access to a Moment of Silence for a minute of thoughtful reflection. Sarah intends to bring academics and executives from the Asia-Pacific IT semiconductor industry to California to work on the next generation of these vital technologies. Sarah is well-positioned to reach out to semiconductor experts in Korea, Taiwan, Japan, China, and Israel to collaborate on resolving the pervasive and persistent supply chain issues that are currently obstructing the global semiconductor supply chain and posing threats to our country's national security and human security. Sarah will work with faith-based community projects to achieve her goals.

Sarah will work to ensure that California exercises its sovereign right to be as welcoming as possible to DACA recipients and their families, as well as deported American veterans, by ensuring that the state exercises its sovereign right to be as welcoming as possible to those who have always considered themselves to be Americans, or who can demonstrate genuine rehabilitation back into society as a contributing member of society. Sarah will advocate for restorative justice, health fairness, and the restoration of the Constitutional dream of a United America, in which every American has a chance to prosper. I am thrilled to support Dr. Sarah Sun Liew since I am a strong believer in the Korean traditional work ethic, faith-based values, and personal character, as well as Sarah's accomplishments as a fellow American.

Dr. Sarah Sun Liew is the best candidate for California, so go vote for her!

Respectfully yours,

Signed:
